

The cliff roads in the mountains were incredibly steep and narrow with no guardrails.

As Jack slammed on the brakes, the van started to slip sideways toward the hole.

*When everyone opened their eyes,
they were on the other side of the large hole.*